Past Masters' Night Observed In Local Grange

In celebration of the 30th anniversary of the founding of Orchard City grange, Past Masters' night was held Tuesday at the lodge, under the leadership of Mrs. Jessie K. McChesney,lecturer.

Of the 123 charter members who helped C. B. Harvey, deputy grand master, organize the local grange on April 3, 1903, ten were present at Tuesday's meeting. They were Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Campbell, Mrs. Nita Waite, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hutton, Chauncey H. Whitman, Mrs. Charlotte Sutter, Frank Mitchell, Joseph Bohnett, and H. V. Archibald.

Thirteen of the 14 living past masters of the grange appeared at the ceremonies. They included Frank Mitchell, first master, Joseph Bohnett, H. G. Keesling, J. E. Weisendanger, E. K. Clendenning, Robert Scholz, Stanley B. Smith, William R. Coupland, H. V. Archibald, Louis Shelley, Harry Barnes, S. N. Hedegard, and W. H. Woodbury.

The charter members and past masters were seated in the center of the hall and they were called upon to give short talks and reminiscences. Miss Harriet Barnes, daughter of a past master, decorated each with a corsage or boutonniere of pink carnations, which are the flowers of the Orchard City grange. E. T. Pettit, of the San Jose grange, who was formerly state grange master, was similarly honored.

Children and grandchildren of past masters put on the evening's program. Miss Betty Keesling, granddaughter of A. C. Keesling, past master, accompanied by Miss Olga Brydon, niece of Robert Scholz, played several trumpet solos. The little Misses Lois and Emily Bohnett, granddaughters of Joseph Bohnett, presented interpretations of the national dance of Mexico, and the tango. Loren Smith, son of Stanley B. Smith, recited "The Night Wind," by Eugene Field.

Movies showing activities of the various past masters and the leaders in the grange were flashed on the screen by Wilbur Gordon, son of J. C. Gordon, the photographer who took the movies.

During the regular Grange business meeting, presided over by Lawrence Hendricks, worthy master, J. A. Mirassou, Los Gatos rancher, received the obligation for the third and fourth degrees from Mrs. E. K. Clendening, acting as master.

It was voted that the Grange harvest feast, scheduled for April 25, be postponed until some time in May.

R. B. Hummel, of the legislative committee, reported on a resolution sent to the grange by the Cloverdale grange, with reference to farm relief in the state legislature.

He stated that his committee favored a two year moratorium on farm mortgages, a reduction of interest rates, strict economy in the state activities, and taxation of public service corporations at the same rate as other industries are taxed. His committee opposed, however, the proposals of the Cloverdale grange for the scaling down of debts of farmers and the 50 per cent reduction on farm taxes.

The hearing on these proposals, which are being advanced before the state legislature by George Sehlmeyer, state master, will take place this Thursday, at the Sacramento chamber of commerce building, and all grange members were urged to attend to argue their caues.

Mrs. H. G. Keesling announced that the home economics committee would meet next Friday afternoon, April 21, at the home of Mrs. Rose Hanger. All Grange women are invited.

B. J. Smith Dies Suddenly Sunday At San Jose Home

Funeral services for Bert John Smith were held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Roger Darling Chapel. Mr. Smith died quite suddenly Sunday night, at his home in San Jose.

Born in Nebraska 61 years ago, Mr. Smith was very well known in Campbell, having lived on the Righter subdivision for several years and until a short time ago. He was active in the work of the Congregational church.

Surviving him are his wife, Ednah M. Smith, his daughters, Ednah Ruth Smith of San Jose Mrs. Hazel Lynds of San Jose, Mrs. Delpha Schnittger of San Francisco, and his sons, Donald Powers Smith, Bert Lowell Smith and Roland Earl Smith, all of San Jose, and Harold E. Smith of Boulder City, Nevada.

April 20, Last Day To Pay Tax With No Penalty

The final date for payment of county taxes without penalty will be April 20. Several proposals providing for an extension of the delinquency date have been made to the state legislature now in session, but none of these proposals have been adopted to date. It has been suggested that the collection period be extended to June 1 or June 20, and that the penalty be not imposed before that time, but these suggestions have not yet been acted upon by the legislature.

According to the law now in effect a five per cent penalty will be added to all taxes remaining unpaid at 5 p. m. April 20.

Tax collections during the last three months in Santa Clara county have exceeded the collections during the similar period in 1932. There is approximately $200,000 less to collect at this time than last year at the same time, due to the reduction in 1932 taxes as compared with taxes for the fiscal year 1931, and heavier payments to date.

Pastors Dine

Former pastors of the Campbell Methodist church were entertained at an annual dinner held in the church last Friday night. The Rev. C. E. Irons presided.

Prune Local Meets

The Campbell-Los Gatos local of the California Prune and Apricot association will hold its annual meeting April 24 in the Campbell grammar school building.

SELLS BEER HERE DESPITE EFFORTS, FOUNDER'S HEIR

Depite the efforts of the heirs of the late Benjamin Campbell, founder of the town of Campbell, to restrain him, Harry White of the Busy Bee restaurant, is selling legal beer.

In all deeds pertaining to land in the original townsite there appears a clause which causes the property to revert to the Campbell heirs should intoxicating beverages ever be sold thereon—and "ever" as intepreted by the wording of the deeds—means for all time to come.

On Friday last, when legal beer was put on sale, Campbell possessed its quota, which was rapidly consumed by citizens, thirsty these many years. Shortly thereafter, J. Henry Campbell, heir of the late Benjamin Campbell, arrived from a brief vacation at the coast, and immediately set in motion the machinery to restrain Mr. White from quenching the thirst of local brew drinkers.

Mr. Campbell was given little encouragement by his attorneys, and the latest reports indicate that a supreme court test case will be necessary before local difficulties can be ironed out. In the meantime, brew is to be had in Campbell, and will, according to Mr. White, be available at his establishment until the authorities prohibit its further sale in the village.

SERVICE STATION FIRE EXTINGUISHD WITHOUT FIREMEN

A fire which occurred early this afternoon, and to which the local department could not respond due to the fact that it was out of the fire district, did little damage to the beer garden and filling station on Johnson avenue between Campbell and Hamilton avenues, and was speedily extinguished by the proprietors of the place.

May 21–27 Will Be Accident Prevention Week, Rolph States

Governor James Rolph Jr. has issued a proclamation declaring the week of May 21 to May 27, 1933, inclusive, to be accident prevention week. During that week the industrial accident commission, in cooperation with the California Safety society, the National Safety council, the United States Bureau of Mines, and other interested organizations, will hold an All-California Accident Prevention conference on Wednesday and Thursday at the St. Francis hotel, San Francisco. At this meeting the speakers will be men and women particularly qualified to speak on their respective subjects.

A plan for community accident prevention councils which can be put into effect in the different communities will be presented and will coordinate the efforts of the various groups in the community to the end that the enormous loss of life, which is occurring daily in our homes, on the streets and in industry, may be reduced to the minimum.

Whenever the citizens of the state decide that these accidents must be stopped and as individuals will then take part in this program, the results so earnestly desired will be secured.

Every person who can possibly do so should attend these meetings and carry home to his fellow-citizens the messages received.

DR. STANLEY INNES TO ADDRESS P.T.A. NEXT TUES. NIGHT

Dr. Stanley M. Innes, who is in charge of the preventorium at the county hospital, will be the featured speaker at the Campbell high school P. T. A. meeting next Tuesday, April 18, at 8 o'clock, in the high school assembly room. Dr. Innes will speak on the care, cure, and prevention of tuberculosis.

Mrs. Robert Lear, president of the organization, will preside at the meeting. All parents and interested persons are invited to attend.

Dr. W. I. Merrill Suggests Police Protection Dist.

Do we or do we not need a patrolman for duty in Campbell? This is a question which will need answering in the very near future. Ever since the patrol service was instituted in Campbell, the list of public spirited citizens who subscribed to a fund to defray the expenses of this service, has been comparatively few in proportion to those who actually get the benefit of the service.

Now this list has shrunken to the point where those remaining cannot long continue the funds necessary with which to carry on, and as a result we shall soon find ourselves without any protection during the night hours. What will be the result?

It is my humble opinion that this community would soon become a fertile field for the criminal element to work in, for there are those who can remember when, under the old conditions, hardly a week went by without someone in the community suffering loss from stealing. This much can and should be said in commendation of the police service which has been rendered, that during this period very few breaks have been made, with little loss of property.

We are now entering the period of the "new deal" era, and just what will happen and where it will end, can best be judged by similar conditions in the past. Your opinion is as good as the next one's. Without prejudice or criticism I would like to suggest that a mass meeting be called to have this matter thoroughly discussed in a fair and unbiased manner with a view to the formation of a police protection district. I fully realize that the great movement on foot at the present time is the reduction of taxes, but although I am heartily in sympathy with honest endeavor to curtail expenses, still I realize at the same time there do exist false economies and it is that factor that I would like to see brought to the attention of the property owners of this community.

The advantages of a police protection district are many, but the outstanding benefits would then be borne equally by all taxpayers, and not by a few.

Finally, let us bury all personalities, refrain from unjust criticism, and with free, open minds, attend a friendly mass meeting and talk the matter over as neighbors should do, remembering that what is best for the majority is in most cases best for the individual.

—Walter I. Merrill, M.D.

LOCAL SCHOOLS ENJOY HOLIDAY UNTIL APRIL 17

The Campbell grammar school and high school were closed today for the rest of the week for the purpose of observing Easter vacation. The grammar school was in session Monday and Tuesday for the time lost during the attendance loss caused by the bank holiday, and the high school was in session during the morning of those two days. Both schools will re-open Monday, April 17.

Current Comment

That the United States senate will confer no dictatorship on President Roosevelt, at least so far as international affairs are concerned, was evidenced the other day by the outburst of feeling which greeted the newspaper reports that the administration would now insist that the much discussed and much argued world court resolution be reported out of committee and passed. So great was the commotion, that the sponsors of the resolution postponed action in the committee for a week, and serious doubt was expressed by several senators as to whether or not the senate would have a chance to vote on the resolution during this session of congress.

The principal objection to spending the time of the senate with the world court just now is that there are so many important matters which should be considered. With 12 million Americans jobless, and a great many of the nation's banks in the hands of conservators, with rail and farm problems yet to be solved, a great many statesmen in both parties are of the opinion that the question of whether or not Uncle Sam enters the league court can well be left for the future to decide. The League of Nations has lost a great deal of prestige during the past few months, culminating with the withdrawal of Japan, which even the French, who control the league, admit was "unfortunate," and the league court has lost prestige along with the parent body.

Perhaps the most significant thing about the newly developed opposition to the world court movement is the fact that a great deal of this opposition comes from Democrats and independents who supported Mr. Roosevelt very effectively during the 1932 campaign. Senator Hiram Johnson of California, dean of Republican progressives, who aided Mr. Roosevelt, was outspoken in his opposition to consideration at this time. Senator James Hamilton Lewis, the cultured Democratic senator from Illinois, declared, "This is no time to call up league court protocols. Events of the world give warning to the United States that it should go about its own business and should make no alliances or compacts to give other nations a voice of authority in directing affairs of the United States."

Senator Dill, liberal Democrat, declared of consideration of the world court resolution: "It can only lead to confusion and delay economic recovery. It is my conviction that if the question was submitted to a popular vote, 75 per cent of the American people would vote against it." According to one newspaper, several of the newly seated Democratic senators are against ratification of the league court resolution. Among those specifically named were McCarran of Nevada, Bone of Washington, Russel of Georgia, Dieterich of Illinois and Lonergan of Connecticut.

Washington political observers attached significance to an editorial which appeared on the front page of the Washington Herald, William Hearst's morning paper in the national capital, the day following the announcement that the world court resolution was about to be taken up and considered. The Hearst newspapers were among the most active and consistent supporters of Roosevelt and Garner in the 1932 campaign. Under the caption "This Is No Time for League Court Folly" the Herald said:

"Senate Democrats will jeopardize the success of the Roosevelt program for the restoration of prosperity if they attempt to jam through the ratification at the present session of the league court protocols.

"These protocols do not provide any relief for our 12 million unemployed fellow citizens.

"These protocols will not reopen any of our closed banks or release to depositors any of their hard-earned savings which are tied up in these banks.

"These protocols will not purge our transportation system, reduce our unemployment, rehabilitate the American farmer or relieve the American taxpayer.

"To attempt the ratification of the league court protocols in this national emergency would plunge the senate into a prolonged debate and divert the minds of the American people from their own pressing problems to the political quarrels of Europe and Asia.

"To force the United States into the League of nations by the trap-door of its court at the very time when Japan is leaving the league through the front door, would be an act of national folly that could and should cost the Democratic party the control of the house in 1934 and control of the senate and presidency in 1936.

"It would seem that the idol of gold has feet of clay."

STOP STRIKING MATCHES

—and waiting for water to heat

the place to turn on

HOT WATER is at the faucet!

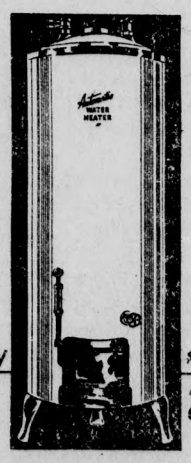
OF COURSE it is not the mere striking of matches that makes the old-fashioned tank type of water heater such a nuisance. It is because someone always has to light the heater. It is because someone always has to wait for the water to heat, and always has to remember to turn off the water heater.

With an Automatic Gas water heater all this is different. You turn on hot water at the faucet. You learn to take its service for granted, a part of the modern living you enjoy. The first month of service is always a revelation—you wonder how you ever put up with any other kind of hot water service in your home.



There is no starting or stopping for anyone to remember. It is quiet, dependable, absolutely carefree. And all this for less cost per gallon of hot water than you pay for your present unsatisfactory hot water service.

Judge this Automatic service of hot water in your home for yourself; go and see the new Automatic Hot Water Heaters on display in the nearest P. G. & E. office or at your dealer's store. They are so easy to buy. As little as $4.85 down and $3.85 a month will place one in your home.

THE FARMERS CORNER

By Ralph H. Taylor

California's state-wide farm organizations, determined to safeguard agriculture from further handicap of legislative calamities in a period already fraught with economic and natural calamities, have hoisted the danger signal over many unsound and questionable measures pending before the state legislature.

The 1933 session, due, without doubt, to the chaotic conditions of the times, has been marked by the submission of an unusually heavy crop of dangerous legislation, viewed from the agricultural standpoint.

Nor is the danger of the situation lessened by the fact that most of the unwise bills are backed up by the best of intentions. The greatest threat of the current session lies in the danger of jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

Typical of the long list of bad bills with good intentions, for example, is a measure which would make it a felony for a farmer to refuse to market surplus crops at a loss. Designed to prevent the unwarranted destruction of foodstuffs, the measure would actually have the effect of putting the farmer in the same category as a bank bandit or highwayman if he pulled off unsalable fruit to protect his trees.

Topping the list of dangerous legislation, is Assembly bill 1,999 to abolish border quarantine stations, the only barrier between California and ruinous plant and insect pests which infest other states and countries. Quarantine regulations which have saved the state's farmers millions of dollars would be rendered practically useless if this measure were enacted.

Also bearing on the quarantine problem and inimical to the welfare of agriculture is assembly bill 1738 which would exempt auto stages from inspection at border quarantine stations.

Two bills, one assembly bill 1836 and the other senate bill 61, both tending to cripple effective action against cattle rustlers, are also slated for vigorous opposition, especially from cattlemens organizations.

The assembly bill, most far-reaching, would repeal the hide and brand inspection act—the only effective weapon the livestock industry has had in combatting cattle thieves.

The senate bill would remove the requirment for brand inspection where cattle were to be shipped from one range to another. The loophole in this bill is that cattle rustlers, by the simple expedient of acquiring a range remote from the scene of their depredations, could operate with immunity.

Among other measures which have aroused opposition from farmer groups are the following:

Assembly bill 581 bringing rural warehouses under the jurisdiction of the state railroad commission. This bill would greatly restrict the facility with which farmers could arrange storage of their products. One result, for example, would be to force grain into terminal markets prematurely with a consequent breakdown of prices.

Senate bills 984 and 986 permitting single inspection of dairy and egg products. These provisions might be safe in the case of non-perishable produce, but would be exceedingly dangerous if applied to milk and eggs because of their highly perishable nature.

Senate constitutional amendment 26 giving extraordinary powers of control over fish and game to the state fish and game commission which should properly be vested in the legislature. This measure, which was beaten on the ballot in 1930, would give the commission arbitrary powers to open and close seasons, make and re-make districts, etc.

Senate bill 808 requiring unnecessarily frequent candling of eggs at heavy expense to both the producer and consumer; apparently sponsored by the candlers' union.

Assembly bill 1378 regulating outdoor advertising to such an extent that a farmer would probably be prohibited from advertising his products and livestock and directing people to his farm.

Anglers, Hunters, Alarmed At Slash, State Game Budget

San Francisco, April 12—Confronted with drastic retrenchments, that call for the discontinuance of many of its established plans for providing fish and game for California sportsmen, the next meeting of the fish and game commission will be devoted to formulating means to meet the demands of a bill now before the legislature, designed to cut down expenses.

Under the provisions of this bill, prepared by the ways and means committee of the assembly, and passed by the assembly, it will be necessary to cut down in every bureau, and the commissioners will discuss that their coming meeting what trout hatcheries shall be abandoned, what wardens shall be dropped, and whether to merge the two state game farms to take care of the brood stock, with but little production.

The ways and means committee has recommended that some $600,000 be cut off the operating expenses of the division of fish and game during the biennieum, and that at least a portion of this sum be turned into the general fund in an effort to balance the state budget.

Many sportsmen's organizations, fearful of the results that will follow if the bill as it now stands is adopted by the legislature, have signified their intention of having representatives attend the meeting of the fish and game commission, and suggest ways of getting some modification in the provisions of the bill, being particularly opposed to any of the sportsmen's money going into the general fund.

Niles Canyon Drive Well Worth While

One of the most scenic trips in the bay district is to and through Niles canyon, Alameda county, advises the touring department of the National Automobile club. Excellent paved roads are to be encountered to the canyon from any direction, thence good, oiled gravel highway through it. The narrower stretches of the road have been widened.

There is considerable water in Niles creek, and along its banks are many delightful places for picnicking. For a small fee, tables, benches and private sandy beaches away from the highway, are available.

The wild flowers in the canyon are beautiful, the mountainsides being covered with golden poppies and purple lupin.
